

A cross-mark on your paper, before your name, made with pen and ink, indicates that your subscription has expired, or is due, and you are respectfully solicited to remit or renew.

LOCAL NEWS.

Buy your fresh beef and Wilmington sausages of Bundick, Onancock's oldest butcher.

Mr. W. Fisher Meers will sell his personal property November 22nd. See advertisement.

Levi Nock, a colored lunatic from the neighborhood of Pungoteague, was lodged in our jail last Wednesday.

The terms at the Maitly House, Baltimore, are made to suit the times. First-class accommodations at surprisingly low rates.

Mrs. Rachel Bradford will sell at public auction, on Wednesday, November 23rd, on her premises near Fair Oaks, valuable personal property.

The Light House Board in its estimates of appropriations for the next fiscal year, asks for a light to mark the lower entrance to Tangier sound, $25,000.

Messrs. John Brittingham, James R. Tickman and others of Accomac, are in attendance upon district court at Norfolk, this week, as g and jurors.

Mr. Charles messenger of the Eastern Lunatic Asylum, arrived at Accomac C. H. yesterday, to take to the asylum a German named Wagner confined in the county jail.

Miss Alice E. Custis, daughter of Mr. Wm. H. B. Custis, now a teacher in the Female Institute in Baltimore, arrived here this week on a short visit to her parents.

A puny from Great Wicomico river was driven ashore on Tangier Island during a gale on Friday night of last week, where she still lies in the lee of the crew escaped to the land in a yawl boat.

The Board of Supervisors met at Accomac C. H., on the 11th inst., according to announcement, for a settlement with treasurer, to audit accounts, &c. Their next meeting will be on the 19th of December, next.

The court of appeals of Virginia, has reversed the decision of the circuit court of Accomac in the case of Kelham's administrator vs. New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad Co. The jury in this case assessed the damages at $2,300.

Mr. Samuel J. Stevenson of our town, was the lowest bidder and received the contract last week, for building eight carts for the U. S. Government, to be used in the life saving service. The price paid him for each cart is $45.

The corner stone laying of a Baptist Church at City, Chatham, was placed on Thursday, 24th inst. A dinner will be served on the occasion and an entertainment, consisting of tableaux and charades, given in Kellam hall, at night.

One Crippen, a colored lunatic, who was sent to asylum at Pungoteague, from this county about two weeks ago, has since died. Information to that effect was received by the jailor of this county during the week from an official at the asylum.

Mr. Heze James, of Northampton, authorizes the following: "My horse, 'Cedric', will match any four year old horse in Accomac or Northampton, carrying Clay, to trot mile heats, best 3 in 5 for $100—the race to be trotted on McClellan's track, Pungoteague, after a reasonable time from date of agreement."

Mr. J. W. Wharton, one of the best known and most popular commission merchants of Philadelphia, visited the Eastern Shore last week. The firm, which has his name, was established in 1866, and entitled to the confidence of shippers, the day of sale to be secured by the bond of the agent and also for the returns made by it, which are always satisfactory.

The valuable real estate known as the Budd farm, is advertised for sale at public auction, on Wednesday, November 30th, in this issue of the ENTERPRISE. Said farm being divided by the railroad and in less than 200 yards of the station makes it very desirable property and should sell at a high price. It contains 68 acres, much of it highly improved and has abundant resources.

Mr. Wm. H. Parker, commission merchant of New York, formerly of this county, and Mr. Wm. T. Fletcher, of Accomac, have formed a co-partnership as commission merchants, and will commence business at 12 South Street, Philadelphia, about 1st of December. Both of them being popular young men, of experience in that business should command a large share of the trade of the Eastern Shore.

Mrs. Elizabeth S. Wise, wife of Major John E. Wise, deputy treasurer of Accomac, died at her home near Pungoteague, on Wednesday, November 16th, at the age of 67 years. She was the mother of Mr. John H. Wise, sheriff of Accomac, Mr. Wm. T. Wise, a prominent druggist in Onancock, and Mrs. Elizabeth Wise, a farmer. She was a most excellent lady and highly esteemed by all who knew her. The funeral services conducted over her, by Rev. W. A. Street, of the Baptist Church, of which she was a member, were attended by a large number of relatives and sympathizing friends.

Mr. Jesse T. Morris, collector, makes the following statement of work done in the counties of Northampton and Accomac from August 19th to November 7th: Miles traveled, 729; families visited, 1,695; total amount of sales of bibles, religious books and tracts, $402.40; total amount of donations of bibles, religious books and tracts, $22.29; total amount of sales and donations, $424.69; found 76 families without a bible; 50 without religious literature; 9 persons habitually neglecting the preaching of the gospel; prayed or conversed on the subject of personal religion with 76 families; made 5 talks in Sunday schools and prayer meetings; held one prayer meeting and organized 3 Sunday schools.

The ladies of the Episcopal church will hold a bazaar in court-house on 8th of December. A supper will be served on the occasion.

Dr. John E. Meers, superintendent of public schools of Accomac, is absent from home on a tour to Farmville, where his daughter is a teacher in the Normal school and as a delegate to the conference of the M. E. Church, South, now in session at Danville.

Mr. R. F. Ames, of the Richmond penitentiary called at our office this week. He lives outside the walls, however, at that place and is rendering the Commonwealth faithful service as guard to the prisoners. He is a candidate for reappointment at the next session of the Legislature to the position and will receive it. The State has no more honorable man in its service or one who will endeavor more to perform well the duties required of him.

Onancock.

Miss Adelaide H. Bagwell, returned home on Saturday, after a four months sojourn in Halifax county.

Mr. I. W. Huff, representing the Interstate Life Association is making Onancock his temporary headquarters.

Rev. R. A. Compton, is in attendance on Southern Methodist Conference, which convened at Danville, on Wednesday.

Mr. L. W. Childrey, our genial and affable insurance agent spent several days in New York city last week on business.

The revival services in the M. E. Church, still continue with unabated interest—a large number having professed religion.

The drama "Reclaimed Husband" will be presented at this place at an early date under supervision of ladies of P. E. Church.

The sale of the personal effects of the late Geo. W. Kelly, which took place on Wednesday at "Mount Oregon" was largely attended, and full value for most of property was realized.

Rev. John W. Hambley, was in attendance during last week on Baptist State Association, then in session at Lynchburg. He delivered an address before that body, which was spoken of by the papers, as being one of the most able and practical addresses made before that body.

Charles Gillet, a colored child, during the absence of his parents, who reside near only station, on Saturday last, attempted to kindle a fire with coal oil. The result was the igniting of his garments, and his body was nearly burned toinders before the arrival of help. His death soon occurred, after much agony.

Leemont.

Miss Lala Rogers, of Baltimore is visiting friends in our town.

Rev. W. K. Galloway is holding a protracted meeting at Crossonsville, this week.

Mr. O. P. T. Fowell, formerly of this town, now a resident of Kansas will visit his old home shortly.

A revival meeting is now in progress at Broadway Baptist church, conducted by J. S. Wharton of our town.

Our public school is being well attended and is efficiently managed by our new teachers, Mr. Connell and Miss Meers.

Mr. John Tindall, of Chincoteague, and Mr. McK. Taylor of Parkley will make Leemont their home another year.

A little daughter of Mr. Wm. Taylor of Parkley, while playing with pebbles a few days ago dropped one in her ear. Several doctors have tried to extract it, but so far have failed.

Sales of Personal Property.

I will sell at public auction, on Saturday, November 19th, at my store at Wachapreague city, the balance of my stock of general merchandise, such as shoes, notions, crockery, tinware, &c. Sale to commence at 2 p. m. Terms cash. G. A. Fox, Wachapreague city, Va.

We will sell on December 7th, 1887, at public auction at Vaneuse, our entire personal property, consisting of seven head of cattle, horses, 25 head of the fat cattle and sheep, a lot of fine pork, also a nice lot of sheeps, corn, fodder, wagon, carts, farming implements, &c. ROBERTS & DUNTON, Bridgetown, Northampton Co., Va. Nov. 14, 1887.

Will be sold at public sale, Wednesday, November 30th, 1887, the personal property of Thomas Smith, deceased, at his late residence, consisting of two horses, six head of cattle, horse, corn, fodder, house furniture, &c. Terms will begin promptly at 10 a. m. Sale given on the day of sale. FRANK FLETCHER, admr. Jenkins' Bridge, Va. Nov. 15, '87.

I will sell at public auction on the 24th of November, 1887, at my residence near Locustville, my personal property consisting of horses, carts, fine Ste. James colt out of a Morgan mare. 3 years old next spring, harness, 75 barrels of corn, 100 bushels of oats, 100 bushels of wheat, kitchen furniture, Farmer Girl cow, stove, &c. Sale to commence 10 o'clock A. M. NOTTINGHAM, Locustville, Va.

After a protracted and completed illness of typhoid fever and pneumonia, terminating in rapid consumption, Mrs. Bettie S. Hyslop, wife of L. J. Hyslop, died on the 15th day of November, 1887, aged 41 years.

Mrs. Hyslop was a lady well and widely known by a large circle of relatives and friends for her many noble traits of character and deeds of kindness, to all with whom she was associated, and the entire community in which she lived is bowed down in grief over the loss of such a Christian lady, neighbor and friend, and extend heartfelt sympathy to her sadly bereaved and afflicted family, and especially to her aged mother, Mrs. Mary Storgis, and to her deeply afflicted husband, Miss Hyslop was a pious Christian and resigned to death, and no doubt has gone to join her daughter, beyond the skies, who departed this life in the triumph of faith one year ago.

Obituary.

After a protracted and completed illness of typhoid fever and pneumonia, terminating in rapid consumption, Mrs. Bettie S. Hyslop, wife of L. J. Hyslop, died on the 15th day of November, 1887, aged 41 years.

Mrs. Hyslop was a lady well and widely known by a large circle of relatives and friends for her many noble traits of character and deeds of kindness, to all with whom she was associated, and the entire community in which she lived is bowed down in grief over the loss of such a Christian lady, neighbor and friend, and extend heartfelt sympathy to her sadly bereaved and afflicted family, and especially to her aged mother, Mrs. Mary Storgis, and to her deeply afflicted husband, Miss Hyslop was a pious Christian and resigned to death, and no doubt has gone to join her daughter, beyond the skies, who departed this life in the triumph of faith one year ago.

Don't.

let that cold of yours run on. You think it is a light thing. But it may run into catarrh. Or into pneumonia. Or consumption.

Catarrh is disgusting. Pneumonia is dangerous. Consumption is death itself. The breathing apparatus must be kept healthy and clear of all obstructions and offensive matter. Otherwise there is trouble ahead. All the diseases of these parts, head, nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs, can be delightfully and entirely cured by the use of the Schae's German Syrup. If you don't know this already, thousands and thousands of people can tell you. They have been cured by it, and know how it is. A bottle only 75 cents.

Ask your druggist.

Conclusion of Ex Teacher's Letter.

"C" says: Ex T. is an intelligent 'false doctrine' in the minds of the children. One of them is, so he says, a 'flying of revenue for old John Brown.' This is one of the most atrocious falsehoods that was ever concocted in the brain of an imbecile and circulated by a knave to injure Ex T. He never did and never expects to teach such a sentiment. He was born and reared in the South, a part of Virginia, and from his childhood down to the present day his sympathies have been Southern, and a special devotion does he feel for Virginia. His father was a slave owner, holding between fifteen and twenty negroes. He was raised in contact with slavery, and he knows what it was. It is reasonable that Ex T. should teach a reverence for old John Brown, when his avowed purpose was to liberate the slaves, even by the murder of their masters? It seems to Ex T. that no one but a fool could believe such a lie, but the facts Ex T. has said, and yet such is one of the chaplain's complaints manufactured to injure Ex T. before the school trustees. What 'gross injustice' is done here!

"C" complains that Ex T. taught that 'the South fought for dollars and cents, and the North for principle.' He pronounces this an infamous falsehood, black as the heart of him that started it, and foul as the ignominy of him that circulates it. Ex T. never did and never expects to teach such a sentiment. He would not tell 'C' what the South fought for—'C' may not know. The South fought for the principle of secession, for slavery, for constitutional government for their altars and their freedsides, to repel a ruthless invader from their soil. What a chaplain complaint that was to carry before a school board to injure Ex T. What 'gross injustice' was done here!

Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and fought the enemy—here Ex T. was severely wounded. When Ex T. was a Confederate soldier from July, 1861, until the 8th of April, 1865, when he was captured by the enemy during Gen. Lee's retreat. Ex T. was hardly more than a boy when he volunteered in defense of the Lost Cause. When McClellan advanced upon Yorktown, Ex T. was in the front, and fought the enemy around Richmond; he was in front at Chancellorsville and fought the enemy; he was in the front during Pickett's celebrated charge at Gettysburg and